CONGRESS AIMS AT QUICK WORK ON LEGISLATION

Senate Set for Vote Today on Bus Bill, House Debates Appropriations.

DISCORD OVER DROUTH AID

Democrats Back Proposals To Boost Farm Loan Amount to $60,000,000.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 — Congress had its mind set on some quick action today, hopeful of a breathing spell to digest proposals before it.

The senate was expectant of passing the bus-regulation bill by evening with a possibility of adjourning immediately till Monday. The house, with a bulkier task in hand, expected to debate the billion dollar treasury-postoffice appropriation until Friday, passing it in night session if need be to obtain a free week-end. More supply bills will be ready next week.

Bills Accumulate

The flood of bills introduced had mounted higher and needed sorting. Nominations for high office and low, some 200 in all, clamored for senate attention.

A new discordant note developed over proposals for aiding farmers of drouth-afflicted states. Democrats in both chambers, with implied Republican support, has introduced measures to make $60,000,000 available for seed and fertilizer loans when the department of agriculture recommended a $25,000,000 figure. Administration leaders took up the latter immediately, with the opponents holding out for the bigger sum. The house agriculture committee was preparing its recommendations.

Democratic criticism of President Hoover's plan for cabinet administration of $100,000,000 or more in unemployment appropriations, continued, but met with assurance that a detailed explanation of where and how it would be spent would be forthcoming. From outside the legislative halls came a Democratic assertion that every one "must applaud" the Hoover recommendations for relief. This was issued by Jouett Shouse, chairman of the party's ...ecutive committee.

FORMER OFFICIALS GET PRISON TERMS

Three Men, One Woman Sentenced as Participants in Ohio Township Graft.

By International News Service

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Dec. 4—Four former Pease township officials convicted of participation in what a state examiner described as the biggest fraud in the history of township government in Ohio, were given sentences ranging from two to 40 years here today.

All of the officials were named in the theft of between $75,000 and $80,000 over a period of a dozen years by means of checks made to various persons and then indorsed by the trustees and road superintendents.

Sentences were passed by Judge W. W. Cowen after he overruled motions for new trials in three of the cases. The fourth, that of Harry Thomas of Martins Ferry, a former trustee, was on a plea of guilty.

The only woman implicated in the scandal, Mrs. Mayme Brown McCleary, widow of a trustee who was named to fill his unexpired term, got an indeterminate sentence to the woman's reformatory in Delaware.

Thomas was sentenced from two to 20 years. He had assumed blame for a small number of forgeries charged to his wife and had obtained immunity for her by not standing trial for his own offenses.

Harry Dallison of Bridgeport was sentenced to serve from four to 40 years. Dallison, a former trustee, was convicted in October.

Former Road Superintendent R. Bruce Blake of Martins Ferry, the last of the quartet to be convicted, was sentenced from four to 40 years also.

WILFRED SCHAFFNER

FURNITURE DEALERS FORM ORGANIZATION

Local Man Named General Manager; Will Not Sever Connections Here.

Arrangements were completed this week whereby Wilfred Schaffner, general manager and secretary-treasurer of the H. Schaffner Furniture Co. will be general manager of Domestic Industries, a recently organized corporation allying furniture manufacturers and retailers. Schaffner has assumed his new duties, taking over organization responsibilities of the corporation.

His new position with Domestic Industries will not require Schaffner to sever his local connections, he said today. He will continue to make Marion his home, and will remain in charge of the H. Schaffner Furniture Co.

Domestic Industries, Schaffner expalins, has obtained franchise contracts with more than 50 retail dealers, a majority of whom are stockholders in the company, who have agreed to purchase a large portion of their requirements of furniture and allied lines from the company.

The company already controls seven manufacturing plants, and expects to add more until a complete line is acquired.

Domestic Industries will furnish its franchised dealers with manufactured merchandise at a slight increase over actual factory cost, and will supply them with sales promotion material to aid in its distribution. Advertising and business talent they could not afford otherwise will be available to the small merchant connected with the corporation.

William Switzer of Mansfield is president and originator of Domestic Industries and is at the head of one of the principal manufacturing units of the corporation.

Financial statement as of Oct. 1 shows assets of $787,132.08 and liabilities of $380,000 which consist of 10 year collateral trust sinking fund notes.

The H. Schaffner Furniture Co. is a local retail outlet for the new corporation. Only one representative is permitted in any community.

SEEK TAX ACTION

Ohio County Auditors Consider Legislative Proposals.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 4—Proposed legislation affecting Ohio's tax system was up for consideration at the annual convention of the association of county auditors here today.

Election of officers was the first business on the program with Joseph A. Lutz of Dayton slated for promotion from vice president to president.

In tackling the revenue problem, the auditors indicated they would place before the legislature a bill creating a new law for taxation of national bank shares to replace one recently held unconstitutional. They also planned a detailed discussion of the new classification tax system under which present forms of taxation must be revamped. The classification plan approved by voters a year ago ... five in January.

MELLON SEES DEFICIT AHEAD

Report Backs Up Hoover Forecast of Year's Shortage of $180,000,000.

PREDICTS END OF TAX CUT

Increased Income Expected Next Year from Business Improvement.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4— It looks more than ever as though Mr. Taxpayer will have to pay one per cent more on this year's income than on the last.

Secretary Mellon sees it that way. His annual report, addressed today to congress, predicted a $180,000,000 deficit when the fiscal year ends next June.

While making no recommendation, the treasury head recalled pointing out a year ago that continuance of the one per cent reduction then made would depend on the revenue prospects this month. These now "indicate that the temporary decrease can not be continued during the current year."

Public Debt Figures

Contrasting with the deficit forecast, the 1930 fiscal year surplus was $183,789,215. Every bit went toward retirement of the public debt which stood at $16,185,308,209 when the year closed.

Calculations on the future led to a request for legislation making possible refunding operations which would aim at putting all or part of the national debt on a lower interest rate basis if money conditions justify.

Further, his report repeated a recommendation that Congress free income tax payers who buy federal securities from liability for the payment of income tax on the realizations from such investments. That would give national paper the same exemption status as that now held by state and municipal borrowings.

If the deficit materializes it will be the first time a surplus has been missed since 1919. Mellon looks to 1932 to bring back a favorable balance, to the extent of $30,600,000. The estimates set the income tax

NO $2.50 GOLD COINS THIS YEAR

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 Secretary Mellon reminded people today why they can't get new $2.50 gold pieces to give for Christmas.

Congress discontinued that coinage last April, because the pieces were in demand almost exclusively for use at Christmas, generally were returned to the treasury or disappeared from circulation, and served no business need but caused much difficulty in the making.

ARGUMENTS IN MURDER TRIAL DELAY CLOSE

Kenton Shooting Case Will Not Go to Jury Until Late This Afternoon.

FIVE ATTORNEYS TALK

Complex Nature of Hearing Expected To Lead to Long Judge's Charge.

Special To The Star

KENTON, O., Dec. 4— Presentation of the case of James Willis, 21, charged with the fatal shooting Oct. 26 of George L. Ansley, to the jury was delayed again today by the long closing arguments of opposing counsel.

Nearly two days have been taken up by the arguments and the case is not likely to be given the jury until late this afternoon. There is a possibility, court authorities said, that the jury may not start deliberations until Friday in view of the complex nature of the case. The charge of Judge Hamilton E. Hoge is expected to take considerable time.

Attorney Charles L. Price was giving the state's closing statements this afternoon. Attorney Row Warren Roof, counsel for the defendant, closed the defense's part in the trial this morning.

Yesterday arguments were given for the state by Prosecutor M. B. Underwood and Attorney H. D. Lease while Attorneys Dwight and C. M. Cessna appeared for Willis.

Willis is attempting to escape the death penalty carried in the first degree murder indictment on grounds of insanity. Two experts were called in his behalf and his attorneys upheld their testimony declaring him insane during the arguments.

Three alienists were called by the state to refute the insanity plea. The prosecution is demanding that the jury return a verdict finding Willis guilty as charged in the indictment.

BUILDINGS BURNED AT BUCKEYE LAKE

Loss in Ohio Pleasure Resort Fire Today Estimated at $25,000.

By United Press

BUCKEYE LAKE, O., Dec. 4— Five business structures and five cottages and a boat house on the North Shore, or Park section, of Buckeye lake, were destroyed by fire of undetermined origin early today. The loss was tentatively estimated at $25,000.

The buildings, all frame, occupied a section 200 feet along the lake front between the Lake Breeze over-the-Water dance pavilion and the Buckeye Lake Yacht club.

A short circuit was believed responsible for the blaze. Another theory was that the fire was started by a tramp who possibly spent the night in one of the cottages.

The flames were discovered at 5 a. m. and fire department from Hebron, Millersport and Newark responded to the alarm. The entire section was menaced for a time.

Twenty-six outboard motors and three rowboats stored in Baker's boathouse were destroyed, and four other boats were damaged.

Urge Home Illumination For Christmas Season

Decoration of Marion homes by outside lighting effects appropriate to the Christmas season will be stimulated by an offer of $100 in merchandise prizes for the most decorative home, it was announced by the C., D. & M. Electric Co. this morning.

As in previous years, the city will be divided into four districts by Main and Center streets, with a fifth [illegible] the five best [illegible] ...

Homes will be judged Tuesday night, Dec. 23, according to Chester Roberts, manager of the C., D. & M. Electric Co. store. Judges have not yet been chosen.

No employe of the C., D. & M. Electric Co. or a member or employe of any firm dealing in electric merchandise will be permitted to compete in the contest.

Originality, color, lighting effects and other will be considered by the judges in picking the winners.

The home lighting contest is an annual event in many cities. It was inaugurated here last year.

TRIAL DRAWS TO CLOSE

Persons whose lives became tangled by a fatal shooting at Kenton Oct. 26 are shown here. The shooting occurred when Willis called to see Ansley's daughter, Lucille, lower right.

"Frozen Light" of Rare Beauty Shown in N. Y.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. A beautiful form of light, preserved by freezing it at 312 degrees below zero was exhibited to the New York Merchants' association today.

Almost equally amazing was the sight of corn popping between two jars of ice water its bursting due to radio waves that heated the hearts of the kernels while the air about them was chilled.

The light was frozen at Schenectady, N. Y., yesterday, brought here in a bottle of liquid air at 312 degrees below zero and thawed out for exhibition, by L. A. Hawkins, executive engineer and E. L. Manning, physicist, of the General Electric company.

At Schenectady the light was produced first by exposing a screen made of various ordinary minerals to the powerful emanations of the recently perfected cathode ray tube.

OHIO TRIO ACCUSED AS DEATH PLOTTERS

Charge Woman Hired Boys To Shoot Husband To Get Insurance.

By The Associated Press

MARIETTA, O., Dec. 4—Two boys and a woman were in jail here today in connection with an alleged plot to kill George Fourley, father of one of the boys, in an effort to collect his insurance. No charges have been placed against the trio.

According to Sheriff Pealy G. Way of Washington county, Charles Whiting, 19, and Harry Gourley, 16, told him they attempted to kill Gourley's father Thanksgiving eve upon a promise from Mrs. Carrie Gourley, wife of the intended victim, that she would give them $150 of the insurance money, so that Harry could buy an automobile.

Gourley, a World war veteran was shot from ambush near his home, Nov. 26, when he went to a well for water. The charge tore off his left arm. Gangrene later developed and his condition is critical.

According to Sheriff Way, the boys said they used Gourley's shotgun, which Mrs. Gourley passed him through a window after her husband left the house. The sheriff said Whiting admitted he did the shooting from a hiding place under a porch.

NEWARK MAN NAMED 5TH DISTRICT JUDGE

Chas. W. Montgomery To Fill Vacancy Left by Death of Judge Houck.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 4 Major Charles W. Montgomery of Newark was appointed judge of the fifth district appellate court by Governor Cooper today. He fills the vacancy caused recently by the death of Judge Lewis B. Houck of Mt. Vernon.

Major Montgomery, a practicing attorney, has been prominent in Republican politics for many years. At one time he was chairman of the Republican central committee. During the world war he served as a major in the U. S. army. He will serve until November, 1932.

During the fall campaign in Ohio, Major Montgomery was among the prominent party leaders mentioned for appointment as chairman of the state Republican campaign committee, which, it was reported, he declined to accept.

Judge Houck died at his home several weeks ago after a long illness. He had been prominent in Democratic politics in the state for many years and had served as secretary to the late Governor John W. Pattison of Cincinnati.

LIQUOR DRIVE CONTINUES

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 4—After two days of intensive liquor raids by 80 city policemen, Sheriff Adam Stone of Mahoning county came into the city again last night and seized a storehouse containing 750 gallons of whisky. Raids by the sheriff in the city led recently to the dismissal of the city vice squad and the detailing of 80 patrolmen to raiding parties.

Three Men Break Into N. Y. Prison Hospital To Take Six Inmates Out.

OVERPOWER 4 EMPLOYES

Convicts and Liberators Escape from Pursuers in Two Automobiles.

By The Associated Press

BEACON, N. Y., Dec. 4—Three men armed with guns invaded Matteawan state hospital for the criminal insane early today, overpowered four employes and liberated six inmates.

The leader of the gang was recognized as a former inmate by hospital attendants, who said he was William Nelson of New York.

The six liberated were: Harry Gordon, 38, of Rochester; Frank Vanderkuyler, 31, of New York, Joseph Kaylor, 35, of the Bronx, John S. Bangill, 22, of New York, John Biggins, 30, and Anthony A. Elloy 44, of Brooklyn.

Dr. Raymond F. C. Kleb, superintendent, said the three men entered the hospital grounds through the rear yard, where they encountered Patrick McGrath, the night watchman and compelled him to accompany them.

Others Made Prisoners

In the kitchen they came upon Clifford Cooper, night cook. Forcing him to join them, they continued through the building toward the front where they picked up Joseph Brown, the roundsman. Then they herded their prisoners into the front office where Samuel Kane the night office man was on duty.

While one of them guarded their prisoners the other two went to the front dormitory where the six men were in bed. The six apparently were watching for them, Dr. Kleb said, for as soon as the intruders appeared they sprang up from their cots and ran out. Two of them left clad only in night attire. They drove away in two automobiles.

The superintendent said those who escaped were not known as dangerous but were suffering from mental diseases which manifest themselves in extreme cunning.

TRAIL LEADS TO N. Y. CITY

Wife of One of Fugitives Reports Morning Call at Her Apartment.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—Six insane criminals, one a murderer and another a pyromaniac, were hunted in New York City today a few hours after their early morning escape from the Matteawan hospital for criminal insane near Beacon, N. Y.

About 6:30 Mrs. Frank Vanderkuylen heard a pounding on the door of her apartment in West Fifty-Third street and answered the intruder. He said he was her husband, one of the six fugitives, and demanded admission. Frightened, she refused to unbar the door and called superintendent Kleb of the asylum. By the time New York police were notified Vanderkuylen was gone.

This and another circumstance convinced Kleb and New York police that the men were hiding here.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Dec. 4— Two of the prisoners freed in a break from Matteawan state hospital for the criminally insane were separated from their companions today when the motor car in which they were fleeing crashed here.

The men, thrown from the car, fled while the others straightened the machine and dashed toward New York City.

STEEL PRICE BOOST ATTACKED BY NORRIS

Senator Says He Believes Action of Companies Is Anti-Trust Violation.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—Investigation by the justice department of an increase of more than $1 a ton in the price of steel announced yesterday by steel companies was demanded in the senate today by Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska.

Norris said he believed the price increased involved a violation of the anti-trust laws. He called attention to the vast amount of steel to be used in the public buildings program being speeded up to provide employment.

"In the face of this patriotic movement we are faced with the announcement that the great steel companies, including the United States Steel corporation, have agreed upon announcing an increase that amounts to more than $1 a ton," he said.

Plans for a homecoming Dec. 17, were made and it was decided to have a covered dish supper on that date, as well as the annual exchange of Christmas gifts.

Officers elected with Mrs. Miller were: Mrs. Metz, past chief; Mrs. Rose Hufford, excellent senior; Mrs. Ruth Fiach, excellent junior; Mrs. Ella Welter, manager; Mrs. Prudence Sifritt, protector; Mrs. Essie Thompson, outer guard; Mrs. Marjorie Cole, pianist; Mrs. Faus Holly, mistress of finance; Mrs. Charlotte Rush, mistress of records and correspondence; Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, installing officer; Mrs. Minnie Quick, trustee; Mrs. Essie Thompson, captain of degree team; Mrs. Cole representative to grand temple; Mrs. Henrietta Van Gordon, alternate; Mrs. Ruth Fiach, representative to district conference.

Guest Organist To Play at Club Gift Program at Church

THOMAS J. WEBBER JR., of Youngstown will be the guest organist when members of the Marion Lecture Recital club present their annual gift program Monday night at the First Presbyterian church.

The program is the club's contribution to music lovers of the city and is open to the public.

Mr. Webber is a pupil of Edwin Arthur Kraft, organist of Trinity cathedral in Cleveland, and of Rowland W. Dunham, director of the College of Music of the University of Colorado. He received his A. A. G. O. degree last spring with a high mark and is widely known in concert work. Mr. Webber presided two and a half years as organist at the Stambaugh auditorium and later was organist at the Scottish Rite cathedral at New Castle. He will be heard as organist with a new choral society of Youngstown which will present the "Messiah" during Christmas week.

While here Mr. Webber will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Hale of East Church street.

ENTERTAINS

Rebekah Friendship Circle Meets With Mrs. Clapsaddle.

Mrs. Kate Clapsaddle entertained members of Sosnowski Rebekah Friendship circle yesterday afternoon at her home on North Main street. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Mary Clapsaddle, Mrs. Mary Blair and Mrs. Mamie Chapman. During a short business meeting plans were made to sew today at the home of Mrs. Fred Johnson of South Prospect street, for a needy family, and another sewing meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. W. E. Coler of Blaine avenue.

Instead of the annual Christmas party for the members this year the circle will contribute to the holiday cheer of a needy family. During the social hour contests were held, honors going to Mrs. Charles Doll and Mrs. E. E. Parish. The guessing contest was won by Mrs. F. F. Miller. Lunch was served. The next meeting will be Dec. 17 with Mrs. H. C. Fulk of Uncapher avenue.

CHURCH GROUP ELECTS

Miss Catherine Len. was elected president at the meeting of the Daughters of Luther of Emanuel's Lutheran church Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Rengert of Blaine avenue. Miss Ethel Lenz was chosen vice president, Mrs. Owen Baldauf, secretary, Mrs. Delmar Twigg, assistant secretary, Mrs. Lawrence Rengert, treasurer and Miss Elsie Ackerman, reporter. Contest awards were won by Miss Elsie Ackerman and Mrs. Guy Case. The next meeting will be the first Tuesday in January.

Stolz; music, Mrs. Dan LaMarche, chairman, Mrs. Wilfred Schaffner, Mrs. H. W. Hane, Mrs. J. Harold Prendergast and Mrs. Frank S. Keller.

SOCIETY ENJOYS DINNER

A potluck dinner was enjoyed by members of the Ladies Aid society of the First United Brethren church when they met for an all day sewing yesterday at the community house on South Prospect street. The day was spent sewing for needy families in the city. During a short business session plans were made for a chicken supper Saturday night. A short talk was given by the pastor, Rev. Carl V. Roop. The next meeting will be Jan. 7.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Fraternity Plans for Pre-Holiday Dance

One of the delightful [illegible] fairs of the season will be the pre-holiday dance sponsored by the Alpha Phi fraternity Friday at Schwinger's.

Plans for the dance which bring together the younger group of the city, are in charge of Paul Saltz who has arranged the music, Edwin Cheney entertainment, Faydell Welsh tickets, programs, Ernest Arndt and Homecome Cass decorations and [illegible].

Arrangements for the dance were completed at a recent meeting of the fraternity at which time also were made for a dinner party in January.

Red Pimples on Baby's Face and Chest. Healed by Cuticura.

"The trouble started on my baby's face and chest when he was six months old. Small pimples broke out and he used to scratch them until they would get red and sore, and even bleed. He used to cry at night and could not sleep, and his clothing bothered the breaking out on his chest.

"I tried different remedies but they did not do any good. I purchased some Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using two boxes of the Ointment, together with the Cuticura Soap, he was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Louis Parnell, Box 94, Buffalo, Ohio.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

This is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel just a healing, soothing, vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

REPORTS LIQUOR ARRESTS

Federal Dry Officers Round Up Up 68,173 in Year.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—Federal prohibition enforcement in the last fiscal year led to 68,173 arrests.

Secretary Mellon reported to congress today on the final period of treasury jurisdiction, the task having been turned over to the justice department July 1. In addition to the arrests, federal agents also furnished evidence to state authorities in many cases prosecuted in state courts.

Automobile seizures numbered 8,633, valued at $3,299,530. Sixty-four boats worth $687,480 were taken.

AFTER RECRUITS

Anti-Prohibitionists in House Seek To Strengthen Forces.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—The wet bloc of the house has opened wide its membership book and is asking for new names on the dotted line.

Laying plans at a caucus yesterday for continuing their warfare on the prohibition laws, the wets decided the present was an excellent time for any members who may have changed their views since last session to come on over and declare themselves.

Repeal moves were left to a later day in the new wet campaign program, but meanwhile, the members decided to exhaust parliamentary tactics in opposing appropriations for denaturing industrial alcohol with poisons and to petition the judiciary committee for approval of a bill to authorize manufacture and sale of beer.

THREE RESCUED ON LAKE

By The Associated Press

LORAIN, O., Dec. 4—Three men who had almost been given up for lost in Lake Erie were safe at Wheatly, Ont., today, none the worse for drifting helplessly for a day. While coast guard cutters, fishing tugs and airplanes were scouring the lake for them, Capt. Charles Abel, 47, reported he and his two men aboard the fishing tug N-1,688 had been towed to Wheatly by Canadian fishermen.

My Friends: Correct Your Eating Faults and Lose Your Fat with Kruschen Salts.

Yes: I'm forty-five today—built like a race horse, my friends say—and I know I feel 10 years younger than I did three months ago—and I'd hate to tell you how much fat I lost with Kruschen.

I call Kruschen Salts the "magic salts" because when I was fat and wretched, despondent and half sick all the time—it took only one bottle that I bought for 85 cents at Bradley's Drug Store, Henney & Cooper to liven me up—put ambition and energy into me—make me feel years younger and with the help of a change in diet show me how to lose the fat I was so ashamed of.

Cut out pastries and desserts—go easy on potatoes, cream, cheese, and butter—eat lean meat, chicken, fish, vegetables and fruits and never fail to take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

Every drug store worthy of the name in the World sells Kruschen Salts—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—not much to pay for buoyant health.—Adv.

WONDERS OF NEW X-RAY REVEALED

Scientists Tell of New Tube Producing Vast Increase in Power.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4—Wonders of new and powerful X-ray machines whose potentialities are unfathomed even by their creators are being unfolded here before scientists attending the convention of the Radiological Society of North America.

The greatness of these machines—an X-ray tube of 650,000 volts, said to produce more than 50 times as much power as all the radium known to exist—was exhibited before the scientists last night at Pasadena, by Dr. Robert A. Millikan, noted physicist.

This tube produces rays approximating in length those of the penetrating gamma ray of radium, and hence, in some respects is capable of doing the work now done by the $5,000,000,000 worth of radium which the world thus far has yielded.

SENATOR NYE says he can prove that the backers of Mr. Davis, recently Secretary of Labor, elected senator from Pennsylvania, spent $641,274 in the primaries to elect Mr. Davis.

The sum seems gigantic, particularly as Mr. Davis is a poor man, a labor union official promoted to the cabinet. It would have been absolutely impossible for him to spend that amount of money or anything like it.

Senator Nye also alleges that Senator Davis' friends spent $272,312 more than the amount actually reported. Mr. Davis, of course, will demand an opportunity to disprove these statements or to show that the expenditures were legitimate and the "backers" entirely respectable.

STRIKE PLAN LOSES

British Miners Vote Against Walkout Proposal.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Dec. 4—Delegates to the coal miners conference today voted 230,000 to 209,000 to reject a proposal for a general strike in protest at application of the "spreadover" hours arrangement to British mine shafts.

The vote represented a triumph for Prime Minister MacDonald and members of the cabinet who had sat with the delegates' conference for hours, urging all efforts for settlement of the difficulties with the mine operators, including, if necessary, indorsement of the spreadover.

The vote followed a report of the miners' leaders on the situation and probable results of application of the spreadover, which would entail a 90-hour working fortnight against a 7½ hour day guarantee, which the miners have insisted upon.

Children Rescued from Burning Apartment

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 4—Two children, pounding frantically on the door of their locked apartment, were rescued from a burning building by firemen early today. The children, Irene Martin, 7, and her brother, William, 5, were taken to a hospital suffering from serious burns.

Their mother, Mrs. Sophie Martin, 30, returned home two hours after the fire, saying she had been attending a party and that she had left the children with a roomer. The roomer could not be located.

MAIL PLANE DOWN

WOOSTER, O., Dec. 4—A Continental Air Lines mail plane was forced down eight miles west of here today and was badly damaged, but Pilot M. T. O'Dell escaped with minor cuts and bruises. O'Dell said the mishap was caused by motor trouble. Another plane was sent from Cleveland to carry the mail through.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING by Gas Light and Cable Car

THE Christmas shopping days of the '90's—they fell in an age, as some wisecrack has remarked "of more bustle and hustle," and we did our Christmas shopping later than we have been taught to do it now, quite close to Christmas day itself, in fact.

That is, we may have indulged our leisure and waited until the last minute to tardily and frantically load up on our actual gift-buying, but there was a certain portion of the shopping that had to do with our Christmas preparations that had to be done early—quite early.

These were the days when, by early October the lamps were lit and supper done and well out of the way by six o'clock, and when the family settled itself down to a long evening of varied occupation. The boys and girls disposed themselves around the dining room table, cleared of its long white cloth and bare of covering, and beneath the hanging lamp or under the brand new electric chandelier busied themselves with lessons. Father took the newspaper and retreated to an easy rocking-chair and a quiet corner of the sitting room and was soon lost to all but the doings of the day in the world without.

Mother Starts Early

But Mother, who customarily concentrated on the perpetual pile of stockings with their perpetual need of darnings, began by this season of the year to side track so prosaic a task, and October would find her sitting of an evening in her low armless rocker beside her work table, surrounded by a gay conglomeration of bits of colored silks and satins and velvets, lengths of bright ribbons, skeins of embroidery hoops, steel and wooden knitting needles, spools of of Barbour's lace thread and "crochet cotton", reels of lace braid and steel crochet hooks and her tatting shuttles. For most of the Christmas presents were made at home and by hand four decades ago, and as the great day itself came nearer, even the children caught the contagious frenzy for gift-making, hurried the school work through, and then set to work with wax and wishbone and bits of colored felt to fashion a few pen-wipers intended to thrill one's aunts and teachers Christmas morning, and to grace their desks the new year through.

Conversion of Yarns

Mother's pile of bright materials took on size and increased in variety as November stretched into December, and, when many skeins of yard had been converted into fascinators or shoulder capes, afghans or "nice thick wool socks" for Father and Grandfather and the uncles, when the last of the mittens had been knitted and mysteriously whisked out of sight right under the noses of the very boys and girls for whom they were intended, when all the babies of the family and neighborhood had been re-booted, re-sacqued and provided with knitted dollies, then the winter evening industry took the more frivolous turn.

Dolls Dressed at Home

Dolls, to be quite satisfying to particular little girls, were always dressed at home; but dolls enough to suit the young ladies could never be made at home, of course, so dolls were one of the important items of Christmas shopping that went down on the preparations list early in the autumn.

But the great item of the real shopping, left until the last days close to Christmas day itself, was the toys. These were the bulk of seasonable stock brought out for the holiday displays both in the small towns and the cities, large and small. The thrill that came once in a lifetime had its first inspiration every winter when the city papers carried their first announcements that Santa Claus had come into the stores, and offered in evidence their advertisements of toys—dolls, drums, horns, blackboards, rocking horses, magic lanterns, steam engines, furniture for children and for dolls, and such delights that set a-clamor the household with the scribbling of letters and lists for Santa Claus, and the eagerness to visit him and see for ones self all of these alluring things.

Go to City to See Toys

So, some time in December, after Thanksgiving was over, there would come a Saturday when mother and an aunt would get a little group of youngsters together and leave in the darkness of cold morning for the village station and take the train to the city to "see the toys." And oh, the rapture merely of the trip itself! The clang and clamor of the noisy streets, the brightness of the lights along the way if the day was a dark one and foggy, the glitter of the windows and the rapture of the aisles and counters where Toyland lay exposed to little eyes almost uncomprehensive of such magnificence! Few little jaded or apathetic interests there were to deal with then, for "boughten" toys were an item sacred to the Christmas season and seldom seen in between the holidays.

The early '90's scarcely knew the mechanical toy, for electricity was only beginning to be commonly employed and the first house wirings came about this time. Mother's ingenuity could evolve a gentleman from a stiff white cuff and bits of black velvet, and place a large marble inside him and give him impetus to send him somersaulting down an incline, or Santa Claus could deliver a ladder of tacks and a wooden Humpty-Dumpty that scuttled from tack to tack down the length of the ladder, but that was no near mechanical motion as

BLAZING OIL SWEEPS CITY'S WATERFRONT

Loss in Spectacular Brooklyn Fire Estimated at Near Million Dollars.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—Streams of flaming oil pouring from the Pratt works of the Standard Oil Co. illuminated the Brooklyn waterfront early today.

The fire, which threatened for a time to wipe out the entire plant, was stemmed by forces working by land and water after a fight of three hours.

More than 200,000 gallons of gasoline, crude oil and turpentine and 18 tanks in which it was stored, were destroyed. Piers, barges, a fireboat and tanker were damaged as the fiery mass poured into the East river between the Williamsburg and Fifty-Ninth street bridges.

Fire department officials said the loss might reach a million dollars. The fireboat New Yorker and the oil tanker Vermont flamed up but were saved. Several barges were caught in the inferno but a number were taken out in the river for safety.

Some 40 companies, comprising about 300 men, and four fireboats trained great streams of water and chemicals on the blaze. Flaming oil was chased from manhole to manhole in a sewer which ran through the plant into the river.

Inquiry into New Jersey Primary Opened by Nye

RANGOON, Burma, Dec. 4—Twenty-two persons are known to have been killed and a number of others injured in two earthquakes which rocked Burma during the night. There was much material damage, the PYU district suffering particularly.

A district 150 miles north of Rangoon appeared hardest hit.

Amelia and Fiance Deny Wedding Rumor

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 4—George Palmer Putnam, Jr., multi-millionaire publisher, and his fiancee, Miss Amelia Earhart, were still saying "No" today.

They flew together here yesterday from New York, giving rise to all sorts of rumors that they had or were going to use the wedding license they recently obtained in Connecticut. Thy denied, however, that their marriage was any more definite than "within the next 50 years," and Miss Earhart returned to New York by train last night. Putnam remained here to help launch his new book.

British Girl Swims To Save Companion After Plane Fails.

By The Associated Press

CATANIA, Italy, Dec. 4—Winifred Spooner, British girl aviator who was seeking to make a record flight from Croydon to Capetown, today came down in the Tyrrhanian sea near the toe of Italy's boot, and courageously swam ashore to save the life of her companion, Captain E. C. T. Edwards.

Their plane in which they had left Rome before Daylight, fell in the water about three kilometers from Bel Monte Calabro but did not sink. Although it was still dark Miss Spooner who is 23 years old, plunged into the sea and eventually reached the shore. While she was gone, Edwards attracted the attention of some fishermen, who took him off the plane and drew it to shore.

The fliers left Croydon. Miss Spooner said the flight would be abandoned.

ERIE GIVES COUNCIL PLANS FOR SIGNALS

Railroad Would Spend $16,000 on Kenton Crossing Protection Lights.

Special To The Star

KENTON, Dec. 4—Plans for the installation of flasher lights at all grade crossings over the Erie railroad in Kenton, have been taken under advisement.

According to blue prints of the proposed installations here as submitted to council, the flasher warning lights would be placed at all crossings affording protection throughout the day and night.

The proposed installation, it was pointed out by representatives of the carrier, would cost approximately $16,000.

It is suggested under the plans that the Letson street grade crossing be eliminated and that the watchman now stationed at the South Main street crossing be moved to some centrally located point from where the flasher lights might be operated by manual control.

While the flashers would be in operation at all times warning of the approach of trains over the crossings, the system provides that the lights could not operate while trains are switching in the vicinity of the crossings and not over them.

ANICE ROGERS DIES

Three-Day Illness Fatal to Sycamore Resident.

SYCAMORE, Dec. 4—Miss Anice Rogers, 73, died late yesterday afternoon at her home here. She had been ill three days with heart trouble.

Funeral services will be held in the M. E. church, of which she was a member, Friday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. McWilliams will have charge and interment will be made in the Sycamore cemetery.

She was born Oct. 4, 1854. There are no surviving relatives.

LIQUOR FINE IS REVERSED

Court of Appeals Fails To Affirm Action of Two Lower Benches.

Special To The Star

MT. GILEAD, Dec. 4—Judges C. C. Lemert, C. C. Sherick and Charles Justice of the Fifth district appellate court completed their session here Wednesday. Judge Justice of Marion, who is on the bench of the third district appellate court is temporarily filling the vacancy left by the death of Judge L. B. Houck of Mt. Vernon. No successor has been appointed by Governor Myers Y. Cooper.

One case, that of Gallaher against C. C. Cline, was dismissed.

Declaring that under the present interpretation of the prohibition laws a man could legally possess intoxicating liquors in his own home the court reversed the action of the common pleas court in affirming a fine of $1,000 assessed against Pearl E. Ritchey in the court of the mayor here last spring. Decision of the common pleas court in two other cases were reversed and in one case modified.

OPEN SEASON

Mt. Gilead Cagers To Meet Sparta in First Game.

MT. GILEAD, Dec. 4—Mt. Gilead High school basketeers will pry the lid off the 1930-1931 season Friday night. The boys and girls teams will meet the Sparta cagers in a twin bill. Sparta has two fine teams this year. The boys won from Marengo.

The Mt. Gilead quintet lost two valuable regulars, Dave White, a guard, and Hubert Howard, center, on last year's championship team. Several promising candidates have appeared to fill their places. The service of Kenneth Messmore, a sub forward on the team last year, will also be missed.

The nucleus about which the team is built is composed of Hanna, Wolcott and Richardson, all of whom played regularly last year. In addition to the three regulars, Mitchell, Brown and Breese are out for the squad.

Reports on the Columbus meetings were given by Dr. N. Sifritt and Miss Hastings. Dr Sifritt read a paper to the convention on the results of experiments with milk sickness. Arrangements are being made to have the same report read at future medical meetings.

Dr. J. T. Gruber milk and food inspector, reported he is making an effort to require all dairies to obtain a fresh milk supply each day. A number of dairies have made a practice of obtaining a fresh supply every two days during the winter season, he said.

A joint meeting of the city and county health boards to map out a 1931 program of health work will be held this month. Dr Sifritt was asked by Mayor L. Don Jones, chairman of the city board, to call this meeting.

The board will meet late this month to close business for the year and pay all outstanding debts.

Reports of their activities during November were read yesterday by Miss Mabel Hastings, city health nurse, Miss Florence Spaulding, supervising nurse, Dr. N. Sifritt, health commissioner; Dr. J. T. Gruber, milk and food inspector, and C. M. Tobin, sanitary inspector.

SHELBY FIVE LOOMS BEST IN N. C. O.

LEAGUE CHAMPIONS MAY REPEAT LAST SEASON'S SUCCESS

Harding Has Outside Chance To Cop Flag; Galion Looks Strong.

SHELBY winner of the N. C. O. basketball championship last year looms as probably the strongest quintet in the entire league again this winter as the opening of the season nears.

Coach Chuck Younger, Whose boys won five straight to cinch the title last year, are all back with the exception of Slifer and Craft and should do good account of themselves when the season gets under way.

Harding has a fighting chance to be among the leaders if the five returning lettermen can be whipped into a formidable aggregation. Coach Dewey N. Bohyer's veterans are Dave Merkel and Dick Morgan, forwards; Bob Smith, center and Bob Bush and Junior Clay, guards.

Mansfield, second-place team last year has the gloomiest prospects of the group, while Galion, which tied with Mansfield, and Bucyrus and Ashland have fair material. Bucyrus was fourth in the final standings last year and Harding and Ashland tied for last place.

Mansfield Looks Weak

Shelby will have Miller, Culbertson, Milliron, Morse and Peters back from its championship team, while Mansfield's material is so

Bobby Performs for Columbus Golf Addicts

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 4—Bobby Jones, Joyce Wethered and Harry Vardon, aces of the golfing world, showed an audience of 200 at the Scioto Country club here how to play golf last night.

The three golfers were on the silver screen in what was believed to have been the first public showing of slow motion movies designed to bring standardization to the game.

George Sargent, Scioto pro who is said to have originated the idea, explained the movements.

San Francisco Open Draws Leading Golfers

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Dec. 4—Leading professionals and amateur golfers prepared to tee off today in 36-hole qualifying tests to determine the 32 survivors of the San Francisco open match play tournament, which ends next Sunday.

The 72-hole event, worth $7,500 to the pros, with trophies for the winning amateurs, attracted 163 entries. Of this number, 133 were professionals, including Tommy Armour, Gene Sarazen, Leo Diegel, Horton Smith, and George Von Elm, former national amateur title holder, now a "business man golfer."

Notre Dame Loses Fullback on Eve of Important Battle

GILLIS LEADS Y-INDUS TO 32-24 CAGE WIN

Shovel Team's Star Scores 19 Points in Victory Over Columbus Amerigos.

Vic Gillis had his shooting eye in shape last night and as a result of his 19 points the Shovel Y Indus scored a 32 to 24 victory over the Columbus Amerigos at the Steam Shovel gymnasium. It was the local team's first home game and their third successive win since the season opened.

The Indus five jumped into the lead at the outset and never was headed with the exception of the third quarter when Columbus rallied and held a 19 to 15 margin. Gillis, however, scored 10 points in the last quarter to put the locals far out in front once more.

After taking the early lead, the Shovel team held a 15 to 11 advantage for the half ender. In the third quarter they were held scoreless while the Amergos were busy adding to their own count, but the latter team's lead was short-lived once Gillis began finding the basket for counters.

Tapp, visiting captain, was the Columbus five's high man with 10 points scored on four field goals and two free throws. Gillis made his 19 points on eight field goals and three free throws.

The Indus team will go to Defiance Saturday night for a game with Defiance college and on next Monday night will play before a home crowd, meeting the Mansfield Ex-Hi quintet.

In a preliminary last night the Harding vocational team nosed out the Marion Business college, 14 to 10. A crowd of 300 watched the games.

MULLINS' INJURED KNEE TO KEEP STAR OUT OF BIG CONTEST

Team Works Out on Arizona Field; Will Arrive in Los Angeles Friday.

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 4—The task of filling fullback Larry Mullins' shoes added to Coach Knute Rockne's worries today as he marshalled his Notre Dame Rough Riders for their final workouts for the invasion of the University of Southern California.

Rockne yesterday revealed Mullins would not be able to play against the Trojans because his knee, badly wrenched in the Army game last week, had not responded to treatment. The loss of Mullins, who replaced "Galloping Joe" Savoldi when the latter was dismissed from school for his venture into matrimony, was a sad blow to Notre Dame's hopes of victory.

Dan Hanley, who jumped into a certain amount of fame during the Drake game, and Al Howard, a member of the "shock troop" squad, were drilled to replace Mullins.

"It makes the outlook darker than I had feared," Rockne said. "Mullins was a great defensive player in addition to his great ability to carry the ball and we'll miss him."

Any and everyobdy were afforded a welcome to watch the Rough Riders go through their first drill on the University of Arizona field yesterday, but today's practices were secret. A light scrimmage was on the program and spirits were high despite the loss of Mullins.

After two workouts today the Notre Dame squad planned to hop aboard its special train for the final journey to Los Angeles, arriving there Friday.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4—Gloom and joy continued their battle today as the University of Southern California Trojans went into the final stage of their preparation for Saturdays' game with Notre Dame.

Joy, however, had an advantage, though possibly it will be fleeting, for the Trojans' star left end, Ralph "Dutch" Wilcox, was out in football togs and will start in the all important fray. Gloom still was on the sidelines, in spite of that, for two ex-Trojans, using Notre Dame plays, scored three touchdowns on the regulars during yesterday's practice.

BUCKEYES' NAME TO BE RETAINED

By United Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 4—The attempt of Ohio State university to present a more ferocious football team through psychological strategy evidently has reached stalemate.

Representatives of the Ohio State student senate, meeting Wednesday night, voted to retain the name "Buckeye" as a nickname for the football team. Their action followed a general proposal to create a substitute for the time-worn nickname which would be appropos the fighting qualities of the football team and, at the same time, instill fear in the opponents.

MACALUSO TO PLAY

Colgate Star Accepts Invitation To Appear in East-West Game.

By The Associated Press

HAMILTON, N. Y., Dec. 4—Len (Iron Legs) Macaluso, Colgate fullback, and Les Hart, Maroon captain and other half of the great backfield team, will play with the East against the West in the New Year's Day contest at San Francisco. Andy Kerr, their coach, announced today.

Macaluso leads the nation in scoring with 144 points with the post season charity contest with New York university at New York Saturday offering further scoring opportunity. Most of the all-America pickers have named "Iron Legs" their fullback.

Hart is a triple threat whom Colgate followers regard as a stronger all-around player than the famous Eddie Tryon. He is almost as big as Macaluso and is an outstanding blocker and passer. He, too, has received much attention from the all-star pickers.

KIRN IS NAVY'S HOPE IN CLASH WITH PENN

Slippery Youngster May Give Middies Win in Game.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—About a year ago this time Coach Bill Ingram at Navy and his assistants began to perk up and take notice of the football doings of a slippery youngster named Lou Kirn.

Today this same young man, not packing as much heft as he might but still a teeth-rattling line plunger, and an all-around fine ball carrier, is the big hope of the Midshipmen against Pennsylvania and later the Army.

The duel of a Pennsylvania team that was crushed by Notre Dame and beaten by Cornell and a Navy squad 'that has won only two major contests is still attractive enough to promise a gathering of 60,000 in Franklin Field. Much of the experts' focus will rest on Kirn and an injury to the fleet Navy ace on a frozen field would all but doom the midshipmen for the charity battle with Army in the Yankee stadium here, Dec. 13.

Pennsylvania, an old rival of the Navy's, is breaking tradition Saturday. It is the first time in the history of the Red and Blue that a Penn team has not closed the season with the Thanksgiving game, now staged annually with Cornell. Penn has won nine out of fourteen games with the Navy over a stretch of 42 years with four defeats and one tie.

JOE JUDGE CLASSED BEST FIRST SACKER

Washington Star Leads Rivals in Fielding for Eighth Straight Season.

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 4—Joe Judge, veteran of 15 consecutive up and down campaigns with the Washington Senators, was officially recognized today as the greatest fielding first baseman of all American league baseball history.

Official fielding averages for the 1930 campaign, released today, clinched his fame by revealing that the veteran Senator had led his league rivals in defense for the eighth season—a new record for the league and probably a world record for any circuit of baseball.

Although 36 years old, a period of life when most of baseball's stars have passed to the minors or out of the game, Judge accepted 1,117 chances in 117 games and was charged with but two errors, an average of .998. His performance was two percentage points better than his leading record of 1929. Judge refuses to play "safety first" around the first base bag, a habit which makes his great defensive record all the more remarkable.

The championship Philadelphia Athletics again topped the league in team fielding, the official statistics disclosed. The Athletics fielded at a .975 clip, the same as in 1929, and made but 145 errors while making 1,648 assists and 4,107 putouts. The Washington Senators were second with a .974 average, a gain of six points over 1929. Other teams finished as follows: St. Louis, .970; Boston, .968; Detroit, .967; New York, .965; Cleveland, .962, and Chicago, .962.

In addition to Judge, the fielding aces by positions and averages during the season were:

Second basemen, Charles Gehringer, Detroit, and Oscar Melillo, St. Louis, .979; third basemen, Marty McManus, Detroit, .966; shortstops, Joe Boley, Philadelphia, .970; outfielders, Al Simmons, Philadelphia, .990, and catchers, Mickey Cochrane, Philadelphia, .993.

Eleven pitchers had perfect fielding records. They were Ad Liska, Washington; Coffman and Collins, St. Louis; Rommell and Quinn, Philadelphia; Sullivan, Herring, Cantrell and Page, Detroit; Gomez, New York, and Weiland, Chicago.

Rockne Believed To Have Saved Tricks for Game

By International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—Football fans who have wagered the rent money that Notre Dame will storm the citadels of Southern California on Saturday confidently expect Professor Knute K. Rockne to confound the Trojans with some hitherto undisclosed masterpiece of gridiron strategy.

Rockne rooters firmly believe that the eminent lecturer, author, teacher, radio broadcaster, rule-maker and coach will qualify as a magician by pulling a brand new rabbit out of the pigskin hat. They will tell you that the master mind prescribed orthodox defensive football against Northwestern and Army so as to save a flock of new trick plays for this last hurdle in this march for another national championship.

What is more likely is that the seer of South Bend will return to the methods that brought him fame, and concentrate on forward passes against the Trojans. The aerial attack, always a powerful weapon in Rockne's repertoire, has been used but infrequently this season.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 4—Added interest is being shown in the National Match Play Open Championship here Dec. 4-7 following the announcement of Bobby Jones' retirement from competitive golf as everyone is intrested in figuring out who will gain the "place in the sun" which the Atlantan has held for nine campaigns.

LINDSTROM NOT FOR SALE OR TRADE, SAYS MANAGER OF GIANTS

McGraw May Use Star in Outfield; Minors Need Draft, He Thinks.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Sports Writer

MONTREAL, Dec. 4—The most illustrious personage baseball—John J. McGraw ager of the New York Rogers Hornsby, manager Chicago Cubs and Donie manager of the Chicago Sox—were among the hundreds baseball men gathered here at the annual convention minor leagues. The trio, viewed separately by the made these assertions:

1—McGraw said that under circumstances will he sell or Freddie Lindstrom, his third man, rumors to the contrary withstanding.

2—Hornsby declared he is physical condition and that plans to play second base for Cubs next season.

3—Bush, a great shortstop day, said that Luke Appling shortstop for Atlanta last season has a great chance to make grade as the White Sox's regular shortstop next season. Bush further declared that he is willing trade any player on the White Sox with the exception of three players—Pitchers Lyons and Thomas and Outfielder Reynolds.

McGraw, in his concise manner replied "no" when asked if he tended to trade Lindstrom, rumored.

"I may convert Lindstrom into an outfielder," McGraw said reply to another question.

Asked his opinion of the parent "break" between the portant minor leagues and the major leagues over the draft question, McGraw decared:

"It will be hard on the minors there is a war between them us. By next Dec. 1 they will be ering to restore relations with majors. They need us more than we need them."

Love's Reawakening

A Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

BY ADELE GARRISON

Edith Fairfax Enters

THERE was so much suppressed anger in Philip Veritzen's voice under cover of the laughter he used me if Dicky had fallen and hurt the gift on purpose, that I at the sudden tense alarm which comes when one senses the danger of a scene. I knew that Dicky had been on the brink of an explosion all evening, but I guessed that he had found his "emotional escape" in the breaking of the lovely cluster of roses. But Philip Veritzen's wrath was still in the process of ferment, and I knew that something must be done quickly if our Christmas Eve party was not ruined.

"I think the platform in the alcove here makes a splendid stage," I said as if he had been consulting me upon the platform. "Will you give me your professional opinion on it?"

He walked with me to the platform and indicated the curtains and draperies which I had just laid down upon preparatory to their hanging.

A Tense Situation

"If we have a curtain n' ..." I said lightly, but he ...

"...resting," he commented. "A little later I want to talk about it. But just now ... very much to have my question."

"...evading it," I said. "... you must realize ... it would be for me ... with Dicky within ...

... possibly hear you ...

... I shall answer you ... my ability."

His breath, commended ... Sapphira and ... family, and uttered ... would call "a whale." ... did not fall on pur... "I ought to be angry ... suggesting such a ... can understand your ... having so exquisite a ... I am desolated my...

... really care for it so ... said softly, and with a ... I saw that if I ... him of the acci... Dicky's fall, I had ... attention from it. But ... Dicky at the same ... looked toward me ... the danger of an ... the two men ... I must walk ... off in a panic. ... fail to prize go ... I married.

"That was not my question," he persisted, and I wondered if he knew that Dicky was watching us while appearing to be engaged in setting up the pool tables.

With a feeling of disgust at the subterfuge, yet feeling that anything was justified in the prevention of a scene, I picked up the curtain and held it in such a fashion as to give the impression that I was showing the fabric to my employer.

"Yes, I liked it much," I said, truthfully. "But there's no use regretting it, now. I hate to think of unpleasant things, don't you? What do you think of this for a drop curtain."

"You're determined to dodge, aren't you?" he said. "All right, for the present, but—I warn you—I am not a patient man. As for the curtain, frankly, I don't like makeshifts and that of course is what this is. Won't you give me a great pleasure and let me fit this alcove platform up as a miniature stage for your boy with a real drop curtain and wings and scenery?"

The pealing of the telephone was interruption most grateful to me. Two years ago, when he was sorting endless boxes of papers in the basement, my father had an extension telephone put in, and it never had been removed. It was nearest to me, and thankful for the chance to delay a decision upon Mr. Veritzen's embarrassing offer, I went to it and took down the receiver.

A Helpful Call

"Hello! Hello!" came Katie's excited voice, and I had my work cut out for me to explain that I would attend to the call. But I was glad that my back was to the rest of the room, when Edith Fairfax's voice, sugary, friendly, came over the telephone.

"Lo, Madge. Merry Christmas! to all of you uns from all of uns. I thought I'd call you now, instead of at midnight, for I knew you'd all be singing carols then. It's a trifle early, but I knew you wouldn't care."

"Indeed no, Ede," I assured her heartily, stressing her name so that everyone in the room might hear it. I felt vaguely that in some way this call might prove to be an offset for the rancor Dicky was holding against me because of the Veritzen roses. "Thank you so much for the Christmas wish. And please bid every one a Merry Christmas for me."

"I'll do that little thing", she answered, then hesitated—I guessed with a purpose.

"Is the Dicky-bird there?" she asked.

"Right here", I answered.

"Will you ask him, please, to toddle to the telephone? I want to thank him for the most gorgeous, Christmas gift I ever had in my life."

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TOMORROW will be Friday, and after that there won't be any school till Monday. When I let Jubilee down by his rope it had snowed. Winter is a very bad time of year. When it is too cold for it to snow it is too cold to do anything or go anywhere, and when it gets warmer it begins to snow. It must of snowed all last night, and it was coming down in big flakes this morning when I opened the window, and when Jubilee let go of the rope he went under the house and when I got down and outside with the milkpail he was warming up by running around the yard like a streak, and the other purps were with him, and they were all having a fine time, and when I went in the barn the whole bunch were there to talk about the fire.

Frenchy had a fine comb with him, and when I got done milking he had me bring out a pail of hot water, and we got so many fleas off the dogs and dipped the comb in the hot water that if they had swole up like oatmeal the water would have been thick. They were so cold they weren't very lively, but I don't think the water was hot enough to hurt. When we got done we poured it out in the alley, but I was afraid all day they would come back in the barn and get on the cows when they found the dogs had went.

Nibs opened his eyes last night and et something. My mother found out by foaming the hospital. I told her I would think he would have to open his mouth to eat something. She laughed and said probably he did. I had to shovel paths after school, and then we all went over to Old Man Scanlun's and he had us all come in, and he has got a big chimbley and an open fire and he was cracking some wallnuts and he had a big pan cracked. He is looking pretty good again, and we all et some nuts till they were gone, and he told us about the war. He said war don't mean anything but dirt and disease and suffering and death. He said sometimes there has to be war, but no one ought to ever wish for a war. Missis Scanlun made us some hot lemonade and said every time she saw a bunch of boys and girls like us she wished we all belonged to her, and she looked like she was going to cry, and Old Man Scanlun put his arm around her and patted her on the back and said, "There, there, Mother, don't cry. They don't." Then she laughed and told him to go on with his nonsense, but it looked like she had tears in her eyes. I told her if they had a good doctor they could get some little boys and girls, and he said he always thought they had the wrong doctor.

When we went down the front steps my foot got in the Lost Bag of Tripe's way and he landed on his face and got his eyes and mouth full of snow. I bet when he went back in she was glad she didn't have any like him. I'd be. Christmas will be here pretty soon.

MAY REPEAT LAST SEASON'S SUCCESS

Harding Has Outside Chance To Cop Flag; Galion Looks Strong.

poor, on paper, that Coach J. Russell Murphy has announced that all five positions on the 1930-31 team are wide open and will be given to the men whose work in practice sessions appears best.

Galion may give Shelby the stiffest opposition. Coach Fred McClintock will have a rangy team with Hoeckstra and Burnison expected to play prominent roles. Davis and Campbell other lettermen, also are available.

While Ashland appears to have good material as the season opens, the team will lose Matthews and Rybolt, lettermen, by graduation at midyear, as well as Love, who will become ineligible because of age. Rybolt is one veteran who will be available all season, as well as Thomas. Dolby, another veteran, sustained a broken collar bone in football and will not be in condition until the season gets well under way.

Buoyrus Strong

Bucyrus will have a well-balanced team built around the speedy Talbott, LaPointe, Seele and Miller, while Coach Jay Winters also will have a wealth of sophomore material.

Each of the six teams will play 10 games in league competition this year, instead of five as last year. Each will play the others in a home-and-home series, beginning Jan. 2. The schedule follows:

Harding: Dec. 12, Kenton there; Dec. 19, Delaware here; Jan. 2, Mansfield here; Jan. 9, Ashland there; Jan. 16, Bucyrus there; Jan. 23, Galion here; Jan. 24, Delaware there; Jan. 30, Shelby here; Feb 6, Mansfield there; Feb. 13, Ashland here; Feb. 20, Bucyrus here; Feb. 24, Shelby there; Feb. 27, Shelby there. (A game will be played with Lima Central High but the date is not yet definite).

Mansfield: Dec. 12, Willard; Dec. 26, open; Jan. 2, at Marion; Jan. 9, Galion; Jan. 16, Shelby; Jan. 23, at Bucyrus; Jan. 30, at Ashland; Feb. 6, Marion; Feb. 13, at Galion; Feb. 14, at Toledo Woodward Tech; Feb. 20, at Shelby; Feb. 23, Ashland; Feb. 27, Bucyrus.

Bucyrus: Dec. 12, Bellevue; Dec. 19, at Fremont; Jan. 2, at Ashland; Jan. 9, at Shelby; Jan. 16, Mansfield; Jan. 17 at Findlay; Jan. 23, at Mansfield; Jan. 30, at Ashland; Feb. 13, at Marion; Feb. 20, at Galion; Feb. 24, at Mansfield; Feb. 27, Shelby.

Drive Uric Acid Deposits from Rheumatic Joints

Don't Waste Time

There is one right way to end the pain, agony and swelling, when uric acid settles in joints and stubborn inflammation persists.

You must take a medicine powerful enough to search out the uric acid deposits and dissolve them.

And this medicine must also have the power to drive these poisonous acid accumulations from the body, through the natural channels.

Get the right medicine and severe, obstinate rheumatic attacks will swiftly leave you and won't bother you again for a long time.

You can go to Bradley's Drug Store or any live druggist today and get just the kind of medicine you so badly need.

Ask for a bottle of Allenru—a powerful, searching liquid that wastes no time in freeing you from the clutches of your merciless rheumatic enemy—Allenrhu comes in large bottles—it removes the cause—the uric acid deposits and impurities from the system and speedily pain, swellings and stiffness leaves you and physical fitness returns—if it doesn't do as advertised—money back—and the price is only 85 cents for a generous bottle.—Adv.

IN GARY TRAGEDY

Virgil Kirkland, 20, former high school football star, is one of five Gary, Ind., youths held to grand jury on charge of murder in death of Arlene Draves (above) after liquor party.

Traffic Light Signals Get Coat of Paint

Traffic light signals and their pole supports are receiving a much needed coat of paint. The work is being done under supervision of the police department.

Several of the signal boxes had begun to show signs of rust. The paint will prevent deterioration of both the signals and the metal poles on which they are mounted.

TAKEN TO JAIL

Although efforts are being made to provide $100 and costs to obtain the release of Vesta Cloud, colored, of North State street, she was taken to the county jail yesterday by police to await payment of the fine or to work out the amount at $1.50 a day. She was assessed $100 when she pleaded guilty in municipal court yesterday to a charge of liquor possession.

Mrs. H. K. Mouser Writes Words, Music for Song

"Inspiration" is the title of a very pretty musical number, the words and music of which have been written by Mrs. Harold K. Mouser of South Prospect street. The song, which was placed on sale for the first time today at the Ackerman Music store on South Main street, is written in waltz rhythm and promises to become popular as a vocal and dance number.

The number, "The Open Door," the words of which were written by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge to which Mrs. Mouser set the music has not been placed on sale as yet.

Real Service

A SUGGESTION for cold weather. When your car won't start, bum a push from the nearest city bus.

On one of the cold mornings last week, a bus went east on Center street, passing a small sedan ahead of it. A block or two farther along, the driver of the car signaled to the bus driver and went ahead with the engine firing on all six.

Such service should bring the buses into prominence this winter. For prompt response to a service call like this it would be best to have the car stalled near the terminal. Your call will be heard very few minutes.

It's Catching

IT must be that this fad of the mad, nerve-wrecking pace of the present younger generation. It's even creeping into the ranks of the children.

The other night a small boy sat in a restaurant here eating his evening meal. Suddenly he jumped up and stood in the aisle with a sandwich in his hand.

"I got to keep moving just can't keep still anymore," he replied when an older person at the table questioned him about his seeming lack of table manners.

No Conveniences

"OFFICE room for rent," reads the sign in the Woolworth store window.

There must be any offices for rent in the McNea, Wolford building for some time, but the sign, smoke stained hangs in the window.

Looking above a prospective renter can see only scarred beams hanging in the offices that were for rent, and above, the open sky. The offices were destroyed by fire last week.

Make It Easy

MARIONITES who call at the Raffensperger home for weather reports would save both Dr. and Mrs. Raffensperger a great deal of inconvenience if they questioned the person answering the 'phone, instead of asking to speak to Dr. Raffensperger personally.

Many times he is called away from work in his dentist office, to tell an inquirer that it was 3 above zero the night before. Mrs. Raffensperger answers most of the calls, and is thoroughly competent and informed in giving out this data.

Plenty of Work

THERE is work aplenty in the temporary sewing rooms at the Welfare Commissary headquarters in the Y. M. C. A. building and organizations and individuals are responding in a wonderful way to the call for volunteer helpers. It does mean a great deal to the housewife to arrange her work and duties to be absent for the day and no one is more appreciative of it than those who are looking after the work. That the appeal is more far-reaching than many of us suppose is proven by the request sent in this week from one who was unable to come to the rooms to work but did want to do her bit by having some of the work sent to her home.

Few special closeout numbers at money-saving values.

Combination coal and kerosene range, was $147.50, now $107.00.

Gas Range, was $78.00, now $48.00.

Bee-Vac Electric Washer, was $110.00, now $69.00.

The Stars Say—
For Friday, Dec. 5

WHILE there is augury of an eventful day, with some minor change or journey, according to the fairly friendly position of Uranus, yet there are omens of defeat and undermined conditions, possibly due to subtlety, intrigue and treachery, even in those matters pertaining to large corporations or secret societies. With particular discretion and alertness, things may progress mildly. Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a fairly progressive state of affairs, with some small change, journey or removal, but, withal, beset by a menace of treachery or intrigue, especially in the matter of new or secret projects. The financial status is not a strong one. A child born on this day may be clever and adventurous, but may be subject to duplicity and fraud, itself inclining to ways of stratagem and mystery.

CLASS OF 200 TO GRADUATE AT O.S.U.

Two Star Athletes Included in List for Autumn Convocation.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 4.—A class of 200 or more will be graduated Dec. 19 at the autumn convocation at Ohio State university, it was announced here today. The exercises will mark the close of the fall quarter.

The convocation address will be given by Professor M. B. Ogle, chairman of the department of classical languages. A graduate of Johns Hopkins and widely known as a classical scholar, Dr. Ogle has been a member of the faculty here for five years.

The graduate school and six of the ten colleges are represented in the graduating class. A third of the prospective candidates for degrees are from the graduate school including twelve for that of doctor of philosophy, the highest gift of the university.

Also among the prospective candidates for degrees are George S. Simpson of Columbus, and Richard S. Rockaway, of Cincinnati, world record holders in the sprints and low hurdles respectively. Both are aspirants for the degree bachelor of science in the business administration department from the college of commerce and administration.

The prospective graduating class is about 30 per cent larger than that of a year ago.

Price of "Portrait of a Man" One of Highest in U. S. Art Annals.

By International News Service

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Mrs. B. F. Jones, Jr., of Sewickley, near here, has purchased the "Portrait of a Man", one of the better known masterpieces of Frans Hals, famous Dutch artist, it was learned here in dispatches from the John Levy galleries in New York.

The reputed purchase price, $250,000, is said to be one of the highest ever paid by an American for an old master. The painting was acquired for Mrs. Jones' private collection.

Brought to America from London, the portrait represents one of the best Hals' works. For more than 25 years it had been in the collection of Arthur Ruck, famous English collector.

Predominantly of the silver-grey tone that characterizes Hals' mature productions the painting was made about 1630 when the artist was about 50 years old.

It is of bust length, measuring about 25 by 30 inches and represents a man about 50 years of age, of gross body and florid in appearance.

Couple Made Very Happy By Relief From Rheumatism And Stomach Troubles

Mr. & Mrs. Louis Cohen, 1322 So. Kedzie Ave., Chicago, Ill., are a very happy, as well as a grateful couple, over their good fortune of having been relieved of a very aggravating ailment of long standing. This relief came ot them through their use of the great, Dr. A. G. Charnes' 50-year tested-and-proved-out medical formula, now know as VIZ, with which that famous, old-time, continental, medical specialist achieved his remarkable success in the treatment of digestive and rheumatic disorders, both in Europe and America. Mr. Cohen had a very stubborn case of Rheumatism, and his wife, Mrs. Sarah Cohen, suffered with stomach troubles. Here is what Mr. Cohen writes: "I suffered with Rheumatism for a long time, but could get no relief. My wife had a very bad case of stomach troubles, suffering from severe pains after eating as a result of gas formation in her stomach and bowels. On advice of friends we both took Viz, and now our friends tell us 'what a happy and healthful looking couple we are.' We will always speak up for VIZ."

Such praises as these continually pour in from the users of VIZ, which is helping so many thousand to rid themselves of such aggravating disorders on account of the fine medical properties it contains. VIZ is a scientific compound of some fifteen of the long-tested-and-proved-out medicalingredients that Mother Nature has put into the world's finest medicinalroots, herbs, barks and leaves, known to, and so successfully used by, the medical profession for ages.

You can now get VIZ at the drugstores in regulation tonic size bottles at $1.00, and on the positive money-back guarantee that if you take it for ten days, according to directions, and do not feel that you have been helped, you can return the empty bottle to the druggist from whom you purchased it, or to the Herb Tonic Corporation, 170 North Wells St., Chicago, Ill., and your money will be returned without question or quibble.

PETER B. KYNE STORY MADE INTO PICTURE TO SHOW AT OHIO

"Hell's Heroes" on Bill for Friday, Saturday; Also Stage Feature.

BY HALLIE HOUCK

PETER B. KYNE'S story "The Three Godfathers" has been made into a talking picture and renamed "Hell's Heroes." The picture comes to the Ohio Friday and Saturday.

As an added feature Boyden Carpenter of North Carolina, the "Hill Billy Kid," will give a one-man stage show of harmonica, harp music, songs and a feature stunt, "The Possum Hunt." Boyden is a traveling minstrel, playing from town to town. Today he was scheduled to appear before the Kiwanis club.

Charles Bickford, Raymond Hatton and Fred Kohler are featured players in the picture. Kohler will be remembered for his work in "Roadhouse Night."

CHESTER MORRIS IN "THE BAT WHISPERS"

Chester Morris has a brand-new mustache to present for his admiring public's approval in his new picture, "The Bat Whispers," at the Palace Friday and Saturday.

The picture was taken from the stage play "The Bat" by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood.

Chester Morris has proven his metal in big parts in big pictures. He is acknowledged as one of the dependable actors in Hollywood. Give him a part, and he'll give an interpretation par excellence. You can't have forgotten "The Big House."

"A DEVIL WITH WOMEN" COMING TO MARION

Victor McLaglan, the man with a wicked wrinkle in his eye and the big, broad grin rounds out the Marion theater program for the week in "A Devil with Women," Friday and Saturday. Mona Maris has the leading feminine role in McLaglen's starring picture.

CHESTER MORRIS

Recently McLaglen admitted that if he were 10 years younger he'd take a flier at his old game again—fighting. Weighing some 215 pounds in ring condition, standing six feet three, McLaglen was a professional fighter—and wrestler, too—for years before he went into pictures. He held the heavyweight championship belt of eastern Canada, and the records show a four round draw with Jack Johnson at a time when that pugilist was at his dusky best.

In "A Devil with Women," he is seen as a dauntless, happy-go-lucky soldier of fortune to whom women are always a pleasant diversion from the commonplace business of fighting.

WIDOW FROM CHICAGO CONTINUES TONIGHT

THE little game of the racketeer affords a thrilling background for Alice White, who as the widow from Chicago, in the show of the same name gets her man, or rather her men in an exciting drama of "gangland" at the Ohio. Neil Hamilton is the good bad man and Edward G. Robinson plays the part of Dominic, owner of a night club and leader of a gang of racketeers.

The death of Polly's brother at the hands of some of Dominic's men, takes her to the night club for a job and incidentally to learn who her brother's assassin was. Posing as the widow of Smitty Dugan, who is thought to have been killed when he jumped from a train, she is surprised in Dominic's office to learn he is still alive and in town. Tricks of the trade furnish excitement in the holding up of a rival night club and the capture of Dominic.

A Krazy Kat comedy, the news reel, some short sketches and some old-fashioned interpretive music by the wandering minstrel from North Carolina complete the bill.

Presbyterian League To Meet in Marysville

Twenty-Five Young People from Marion Churches Expected To Attend Annual Conference Saturday; Local Persons Are Officers of Organization.

Twenty-five or more young people of the Marion Presbyterian churches will be in Marysville Saturday at the fifth annual conference of the Young People's League of Marion Presbytery.

Henry Mickley of Marion is president of the league and Miss Roma Bader of Marion is recording secretary. Nine counties are included in the league. They are Hardin, Wyandot, Crawford, Morrow, Delaware, Logan, Champaign, Marion and Union counties.

Opens at 9 a. m.

The conference will convene at 9 a. m. at First Presbyterian church in Marysville and will close at 8:30 p. m. Rev. T. M. Patterson of Crestline is advisor for the Presbytery and Miss Louise Sheets of Delaware is advisor for the Presbyterial. The officers of the league are Howard Herd of Marysville, vice president, Miss Hildren Adams of Marysville, corresponding secretary and Miss Carolyn Gleich of Delaware, treasurer.

A get-acquainted period will open the conference, after which the Radnor-Thompson society will conduct a devotional service.

Rev. James A. Verburg of Columbus will preside as chairman, and at 10:30 a. m., will present the conference theme, "Faith, Fellowship, Future." The conference will be divided into four discussion groups with pastors of the churches in the league, leading the discussion topics.

The discussion groups and leaders are as follows: "Worship and Prayer," Rev. James A. Miller of Huntsville; "Other Youth," Rev. Harry W. Barr of Urbana; "Christian Conduct," Rev. S. V. Sydenstricker of Upper Sandusky; "Christian Unity," Rev. Clarence S. Gee of Delaware.

To Lead Devotionals

The Crestline society will lead the devotionals opening the afternoon session. The society of First Presbyterian church here will present a play at 2:10 p. m., under the direction of Miss Sheets. Report of findings and summaries of the conference groups will be presented, after which Rev. B. L. Rice of Westwood church in Cincinnati will speak on "A Priceless Friendship."

Election of officers will take place in a business session in which committee reports and affairs of the league will be taken up.

Rev. Verburg will preside as toastmaster at a banquet at 6 p. m. in which reports will be given and Rev. Paul W. Gauss of Bellefontaine will speak on "A Visit to the Holy Land." Miss Dorothy Auld of Galion will lead a prayer service.

WAY TO FARM RELIEF SHOWN

Overproduction Will Problem, Hyde Says in Report.

By The Associated Press

TON, Dec. 4—Salva- for thousands of held by Secretary department of agri- to depend on whether hand against the giant rally went forth in report to President the declaration: emphasize the need intelligent, systematic action to bring sup- relation with particular oberabund- the agriculture sec- producers of that grain could expect federal help only if they made a practical approach to the task of combining to adjust output to needs.

Lower farm incomes from the production of 1930 as compared with the previous year, were predicted by the Cabinet officer. He estimated the aggregate gross income from 1930 crops at about $9,950,000,000, or about 16 per cent less than in 1929.

Cause of Slump

He attributed the current slump in agricultural prices to continued overproduction and "the world-wide business depression" resulting in lessened demand.

Turning to the tariff, the secretary said the Smoot-Hawley law had added $48 a year to the cost per farm of the commodities the farmer buys and $150 to his income, leaving a net balance of $102 per farm in favor of the farmer.

OBJECTS TO RECLAMATION

Hyde Doubts Advisability of Promoting Agricultural Expasion.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—Secretary Hyde today pronounced the federal reclamation policy inconsistent with present efforts to curtail farm production.

In his report to President Hoover the secretary said "it is a serious question whether in view of the existing overproduction in agriculture it is advisable to promote agricultural expansion through irrigation and drainage."

OHIO STATE ALUMNI FORM ORGANIZATION

Dr. McMurray Named President of County Group at Meeting Here.

As a part of the annual Ohio State day, the Marion County Alumni association met last night and elected Dr. James W. McMurray president of the newly organized county association.

The meeting was held in the offices of Dr. E. L. Brady. Following the election of officers which included Oliver Hamilton, vice president, and Miss Zelmah Howard, secretary, the group of about 30 present, heard a national broadcast from 10:30 to 11:30 p. m.

An array of alumni talent, all graduates of the university, featured the radio broadcast phase of the observance, sponsored by the Alumni association of the university.

The mailing list of the county association was corrected. Messages from President George Rightmire and John B. Fullen, alumni secretary of the campus were read by W. A. Dorsey. The group made tentative plans for a meeting the last of January or early in February.

Daily Proverb—"Speech is silver, silence golden; who speaks sows, who keeps silent reaps."

A cable says that divorces in Turkey have increased with feminism. Naturally. Hasn't that been the result the world over?

The plea of Burma for home rule has been approved by the Indian round table conference. Burma, it may be noted, has not been active in revolting against the power of Britain.

During the year ended June 30, jail and prison sentences were imposed in 27,709 dry law cases, 5,107 more than in the year before and the sentences average longer. Sad to say, however, the flood of liquor over the country seems to have been but little, if any, checked.

There was a decided increase in births in England during the past quarter-year and a corresponding decrease in deaths. The number of marriages also went up, while the decrease in infant deaths was surprising. Hard times and unemployment must agree with the Britons.

The bankers of the United States and France, the two great gold-holding nations, are reported by Paris to be near accord on a plan to withhold gold for warlike uses. Here at last is a peace movement which is liable to make any nation contemplating a war sit up and take notice.

His fellow-members must be tiring of the campaign fund investigating activities of Senator Gerald P. Nye. In any event, they voted down his motion to deny the oath to Senator-Elect James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, fifty-eight to twenty-seven. Still, Nye's effort to withhold the seat from the Pennsylvanian was not wholly fruitless. The youthful North Dakotan managed to get a lot of publicity as the result of his opposition, and publicity, seemingly, is meat and drink to him.

Describing present-day Russia as "a nation of lunatics," the American Chemical society through its journal, Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, is urging the more than 1,000 American engineers and technically-trained men to quit Russia, "both for their own personal safety and as a protest of world science against Communist tyranny." The wonder to many Americans is how decent, self-respecting engineers and trained men ever saw fit to accept bolshevik employment.

Scientific Easy Marks.

A rather amusing story comes from Palestine in connection with the purchase of Armageddon, the city of battle mentioned in the New Testament as Megiddo and thirteen acres of land on the side of Mount Carmel adjacent thereto by the archeological expedition financed by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and headed by Dr. James H. Breasted, director of the Oriental institute of the University of Chicago.

The two tracts purchased for the nominal sum of $3,500 have proved rich in archeological treasures, one striking discovery after another having been made by the Palestine expedition of the Oriental institute during the past five years, among them being the unearthing of the great stables of King Solomon.

It was at Armageddon, where, about 2,500 years before the Egyptian army of King Necho overwhelmed the Judean army of King Joseph, that Lord Allenby, commander of the British forces in the Near East during the World war, vanquished the Turkish army by utilizing the same strategetically strong pass through the Mount Carmel ridge by which the routing of the army of the king of Judah was accomplished about 600 years before the Christian era.

For the past five years the expedition, which has been digging on the tracts, have been leasing them from the Arab farmers living thereon. The time having arrived for the renewal of the leases for the present year, the field director, Dr. P. L. O. Guy, thought it might be wise to look up the titles to the land and was surprised to find that the tracts belonged to the ninety-year-old widow of the late Lawrence Oliphant, who is an American woman living in the south of England. She was surprised to learn that the land belonged to her and was glad to dispose of it at the price stated when she learned of its scientific value to the expendition.

For five years the college professors leading the expedition had been paying outrageously high prices to the Arab squatters there in for the privilege of digging on the tracts and removing some of the archeological treasures therein. In a word, the American scientists proved themselves regular easy marks for the wily Arabs, who held themselves out as the owners, and there is a suspicion that their trick might not have been discovered even when it was had not the backer of the expedition hinted that it might be the business-like thing to look up the titles before continuing the payment of the excessive terms demanded.

Railroads and Workers as One.

The result of two recent meetings of railroad men may prove as important as the two gatherings, considered in the light of their one purpose, were unique.

Assembled in Chicago, the general chairmen of the five great railroad brotherhoods passed resolutions in condemnation of every form of governmental subsidy and discrimination against the railroads of the country in behalf of the competitors of the roads. Right on the heels of this action, the Association of Railway Executives, meeting in New York City, made public the views of the organization regarding the governmental policies which should be adopted to put the railroad industry on "a basis of economic equality of opportunity with its competitors and enable it to make adequate earnings."

It has not been infrequent that railroad workers have assembled in the past for one purpose or another, and this is also true of railroad executives. Often the two have assembled over a conference table to discuss wage scales, or working conditions, or operating policies, or all combined. But here we have the railroads and their employes meeting separately, but working to the same end. Instead of holding inimical positions as has so often been the case in the past, the employers and the employes are standing as one for their mutual best interests.

The two interests point out that every other industry opposes government subsidization of competition, and asks why they should be expected to remain passive while the government is subsidizing competition by waterways and highways.

As an editorial comment on the situation puts it: "We believe that the sane business men of the country will rejoice because of the stand taken by the railways and the train service brotherhoods. Intelligent business men have been feeling increasing alarm regarding the drift of the railroad industry toward disaster. Many thousands of employes have come to a realization that they are injured far more by losses of railway traffic than are the railways themselves, and they have become tired of tolerating politicians who pander to them during political campaigns and between campaigns promote policies that reduce the number of railway jobs."

What will be the effect of this combined attitude of the brotherhoods and the railroad managements on congress, which in the past has been so greatly inclined to harrass the railroads for political fence-building purposes, believing such a course popular with the great shipping interests and the agricultural element of the country?

One can but guess, but we may in a measure figure on the future by recalling the past. We have seen at least one administration surrender to the brotherhoods, one congress become supine before them. Figuring that the average legislator is cowardly, which we believe has the demonstration of history, is it not probable that, so long as the railroad managements and the railroad workers stand as one in insisting upon their mutual rights, a decided recession in action unfriendly to the railroads may be anticipated?

Representative Roy O. Woodruff, of Michigan, took advantage of the first day of the present session of congress to introduce a bill to invoke the powers of the federal government to aid in the suppression of racketeering and gangster activities. One of these days some half-baked legislator will be asking Uncle Sam to aid the country to breathe.

The Cunard line has signed a contract for the construction of its planned 1,018-foot, 73,000-ton liner, which is to cost between $22,500,000 and $25,000,000, have a speed of thirty knots and be twenty per cent. larger than any vessel afloat. It and a sister ship to follow it, will be Britain's answer to the Bremen and Europa of North German Lloyd.

Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, holds that it is ridiculous to throw the World court into the short session with so many domestic questions needing attention. No matter what course the President might have taken, "Uncle Hiram" probably would have found fault with it, but in this particular instance a large element of the country will be inclined to agree with him.

The Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New York, deliberately remained away from the gathering of seventy-seven ministers who listened to former Juvenile Judge Ben B. Lindsey in an address on trial marriage and birth control. We always have had a lot of respect for both the good, sound sense and the religion of the bishop, and it has in no way diminished.

The church and pacificist group which addressed a communication to President Hoover, asking him to inaugurate a movement to make war on international crime, has made a second appeal proposing two additional measures—a general treaty to subdue a warring nation to peace by economic pressure and a treaty that will provide for the call of a conference of nations for conciliation and, if necessary, inquiry and report to the opinion of mankind. Why are the churchmen and pacificists so set on discrediting the Briand-Kellogg pact?

By a vote of six to one, the supreme court of California has for the second time this year denied a pardon to Warren K. Billings, serving a life sentence for the Preparedness day bombing in 1916 in which ten persons were killed and forty injured. It would seem that some different showings must have been made to the court than the propaganda for the release of Billings and Thomas J. Mooney with which newspapers and magazines were recently flooded.

James Sammons, machine gunner for the Capone gang, is to spend the remainder of his life in prison, having yet thirty-two years of a fifty-year sentence for murder to serve, after which he is to serve a sentence of from one year to life for burglary, to say nothing of a six-months' sentence on the vagrancy charge on which he was arrested. It would be interesting to know just what was Sammons' pull that he could walk the streets of Chicago without molestation up to the inauguration of the vagrancy campaign when there was yet thirty-two years' time to be done by him for murder.

Editorial Opinion.

SMALL CURRENCY ECONOMICAL.

Considerably more than a year has elapsed since the treasury department put the Tom Thumb currency in circulation. Three aims of the government at that time were to reduce counterfeiting, and to effect a saving in the cost of currency circulation by making the bill smaller and increasing its period of usefulness.

According to a recent statement from the treasury department, two of the aims have been accomplished; the other has not turned out satisfactorily. The cost of money circulation has been decreased one-third through use of the new bills, it is estimated, and the amount of counterfeiting by note raising has been reduced to the "very minimum," but the life of the new currency has been found to average only a few days longer than that of the old type bills. The treasury officials find that the designs of the new bills, scpecially in the small denominations, have become familiar enough to the public to make counterfeiting difficult. Only in communities where there is a superstitious or other aversion to accepting two-dollar bills is there any real counterfeiting threat. Several instances have been discovered in these communities in which the unfamiliar two-dollar bills have been raised to twenty dollars. Practically all the savings in circulation costs has resulted from the smaller quantity of currency paper required for the new bills.

Folding is responsible for most of the wear and tear on currency. Treasury experts were of the opinion last year that the new bills were small enough so they could be carried conveniently without folding, or, at most, with only one fold. They estimated that elimination of the double fold would increase the life of the currency at least forty pe. cent. The experts were wrong. Experience has shown that the new bills are folded lengthwise and crosswise almost as often as the old type.

Modern merchandising methods also have affested the life of currency. Many bills now are handled by filling station attendants, whose greasy hands subject them to abnormal soiling. In order to achieve maximum success in reduction of currency circulation costs, the bureau of standards is engaged in an extensive search for a new type of paper that can be folded or crumbled without destruction of the grain.—Cedar Rapids Gazette.

RUN TO WASHINGTON.

No more dangerous tendency, nor any more fatal to orderly democratic government, exists today than the habit of "running to Washington" instead of cleaning up on the spot with the weapons at hand. There is no way to stiffen the public spine against criminality except to let the public suffer from its own laxness until it rises in corrective fervor and stamps crime into the ground.

"Run to Washington" is only another way of saying "run away from local responsibility and permit your public order, public service, education, welfare and even your homes to be controlled from the District of Columbia." This country has grown great for precisely the reason that each locality has taken pride in performing the duty of governing itself and handling its own functions. Our gravest peril is centralization in Washington bureaucracies which may become fundamentally as despotic and as far from reflecting local sentiment as an absolute czar. That condition is the death of democracy.

Nothing is easier than to cry, in times of local distress: "Let the federal marshals, district attorneys and judges take over the job. Pass a federal law." Every such cry is an admission of local slothfulness and should be the signal for the locality to rouse itself, douse its head in the cold water of facts and get busy.—Grand Rapids Press.

How To Feed Your Baby.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Recently I called at a charming home where a baby of seven months was the center of household interest. It was a sweet baby, but very, very pale. The poor youngster was irritable and gave visible evidence of undernourishment.

It isn't easy to determine the cause of that particular state of health. But it demands carefuly study, because neglect may result in disaster.

Certain rules about feeding have been laid down by the doctors. One of these relates to the frequency of the meals. In general, the age of the baby is the determining factor.

But age alone can not be accepted as the sole test of the frequency or the richness of the feedings. There is but one reliable test, that is the baby itself. Unless there is uninterrupted increase in weight, something is wrong, either with the quantity and quality of the milk, or with the underlying state of health.

For some reason this mother had recently lengthened the period between feedings from three hours to four hours. As I view it, the strength and vigor of the child were not sufficient to justify a limitation in the quantity of food. With fewer feedings there was not enough nourishment.

Before the new eating time came this baby was ravenously hungry. Naturally it jumped at the bottle and went at its feeding so energetically that the milk was taken too rapidly. It swallowed a lot of air as it gulped down its food. No wonder the baby was uncomfortable and unhappy.

This is not the way to feed a baby. It should be done just right, or it is all wrong.

The rubber nipple is important. If the nipple is too long, it will press against the roof of the mouth, and cause gagging. The particularly important thing, however, is to have the opening the right size.

When the bottle is filled and the nipple is applied, turn the bottle bottom side up. If the milk runs out in a stream, the opening in the nipple is too large. The milk should drop readily, but not flow.

If the opening is large, the food is taken too rapidly. It should require twenty minutes to empty the bottle. Rapid feeding may result in colic, indigestion and vomiting. Undernourishment is certain to follow.—Copyright, 1930, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Don't All Speak at Once.

Now is the time of the year when the time-honored question arises as to whether cold 'possum meat is digestible. But who ever heard of there being enough 'possum left to get cold?—Louisville Herald-Post.

In the Heyday of Flatboating.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

The steamboat era on the inland waterways of the United States began with 1817, but the advent of the steam driven vessel did not immediately effect the flatboat business, which had grown up at this time to an enormous volume.

Few realize now the proportions to which this business had grown. An idea of its volume can be secured from a diary note of a traveler going from Louisville to Natchez, in 1817, in which he says he counted 2,000 flatboats and kept no count of those that passed in the night.

These flatboats were strongly built, but the expense was kept down to the lowest point, for it was not practicable to bring them back upstream. They were sold at New Orleans with their cargoes and their owners were obliged to make their way back home, mostly on foot. That involved some hardships, of course, but the profit in the business made it worth while to assume them.

Some of these boats, it may be objected, came from the upper Mississippi instead of the Ohio, but not many. The upper Mississippi valley was not yet populated. So practically all the cargoes carried on these flatboats originated along the Ohio river and its tributaries.

They were carrying the agricultural products of about 100,000 people living in what was then the richest agricultural land known in North America, and out from Cincinnati, their first destination, they went by water not only to the people living in the Atlantic states, but to Europe.

Cincinnati was, of course, a principal port of departure for these flatboats, and while it was a town of but 500 when the Greenville treaty was signed it had grown to a population of 9,000 within the two decades following.

Science and the Cosmic Sense.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

One of the perturbing features of modern life is a growing feeling of dread that, somehow, mankind is becoming enslaved. All through the ages man has been warring with fiends. Ibsen speaks of fiends which obsess the mind and the heart. The contemporary philosopher sees fiends in all the wonderful new machines of mankind's creation and invention. Are we at last becoming the architects of our own enslavement? Does science impose the dread penalty that we shall create, ourselves, the fiends which shall eventually enslave us? Are the dynamo, the Diesel engine, the airplane, the new deities of the modern world?

One of the most enthralling problems which mankind seeks to unravel today is: are science and religion antipathetic? As we go deeper and ever deeper into science, are we getting farther and farther away from God?

Upon this point, the testimony of some of the leading scientists of today is impressive and unmistakable. Certain it is that, from a materialistic standpoint, life is becoming synonymous with forces less biological than physical. It has become pretty well established, although final proof is not yet quite complete, that matter, and indeed life itself, is electrical in nature. Why this is so, we can not say; but that it is so there can be little doubt.

The scientist of today, far from being a triumphant master of the material universe, is confronted with a thousand mysteries that he can not fathom. This was the view of Newton three centuries ago, this is the view of Einstein. When asked why one magnet repels another, R. W. Whitney replied: "By the will of God." The laws of nature are the operations of the Divine mind, according to the interpretation of this distinguished scientist, who has no fear of man's enslavement by science. Man is a free-will agent; and it would be the height of folly to stifle science through dread of man's lack of moral reserves. Science can enslave us, or it can free us, says Whitney; but we must make the choice. You can use the radio to control a distant deposit of explosives and blow up a city or you can use it to spread good-will among the nations. • • • Automobiles, airplanes, radio, the long train of physical inventions and improvements which bridge time and space and save labor—these may be agencies, in the education of the cortex. As such, they are factors in the spiritual growth of man.

Another great figure in science, who has given testimony on the subject of the religion of the scientist, is Einstein. According to the great physicist, there are three types, the religion of fear, the religion of the social feelings, and the religion of the cosmic. The first is essentially primitive in origin; but many vestiges of it survive and are found in the religions of civilized peoples today. The second is essentially moral in tone, positing a Divine Providence, a being somewhat like man, a benevolent father who looks down upon humanity with love and pity. Both types of religion are marked by the anthropomorphic character of the idea of God. This type of God is made by man in the man's own image.

The highest form of religion, according to Einstein, is the cosmic religious sense. There is no anthropomorphic idea of God concealed any where about this type of religion. As Einstein says: the individual feels the vanity of human desires and aims, and the nobility and marvelous order which are revealed in nature and the world of thought. • • • The cosmic religious experience is the strongest and the noblest driving force behind scientific research. • • • What a deep faith in the nationality of the structure of the world and what a longing to understand even a small glimpse of the reason revealed in the world there must have been in Kepler and Newton to enable them to unravel the mechanism of the heavens in long years of lonely work!—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

Prayer—Lord for each perfect gift of Thine we thank Thee.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Dec. 4—A cheer is due book sellers and publishers for the deft manner in which they snatched their business from most complete oblivion a few months ago. For of a sudden the entire industry went by the wire. Even book-borrowing began to decline.

Book shops, department-store book sections and circulating libraries suggested the rotunda of Grand Central at 4 a. m. Price slashing had no effect whatever. Authors attended sales in the big stores and offered to autograph their tomes gratis, but few came.

The economic crisis played a large part in the debacle. Hastily-written books contributed, and there were the radio and talkies to consider. This sudden and disquieting avalanche was too much to plug up over night. Book sales came to an almost complete full stop.

Some panic-stricken publishers began to announce two dollar and $2.50 books at a dollar and others hit upon paper back books at a nickel price. But the more ideas of this sort exploited the duller the business. Its low peak was reached when an avenue shop is reported to have sold only four books in a day.

In the chaos publishers did something that should be a future lesson for other enterprises in the gasp of a sinking spell. Whether it was collectively or individually decided, I do not know, but almost simultaneously all began to advertise as never before.

They put on a dignified ballyhoo. Press material usually sent to columnists tripled. More ads, in larger display filled newspapers. Book talks were features in radio hours. Coupled with this was more discrimination in selecting manuscripts.

At any rate the book business is bounding out of the red. It is far from its after-the-war opulence, but it is in a healthier condition than it is has been for months. There are records, too, that in depressions book sales sag. With returning prosperity people begin to read again.

Jewel Box of Germany.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

It is for good reasons that Dresden, capital of Saxony, has been called for centuries "The Jewel Box of Germany."

With the possible exception of Berlin, no city of middle Europe holds out so varied a rich an appeal to the touring visitor. This pleasant city, lying about 100 miles south of the German metropolis, is equally celebrated for its exquisite china, its art treasures and culture.

To walk along Dresden's quaint little streets is to be transported to another world—one removed from the din and bustle, which is an integral a part of twentieth-century life.

Not that the "Jewel Box of Germany" has its busy factories and high-powered industry. It is only that the aura of antiquity will cling to the old town.

Just window-shopping in Dresden's main thoroughfare is an adventure. The exquisite fragility of its china, the perfection of its jewelry and silverware, the delicate workmanship on its lovely pocketbooks and antique furnishings, all tell the story of the city's long established supremacy in the field of the decorative crafts.

In Dresden one also finds education and the sciences enthroned. On the shores of the Elbe river, which runs through the city, are many universities and scientific institutions, which have retained their eminence down through the centuries.

More priceless art treasures can be found in Dresden's Zwinger museum than in any European city outside of Rome and Paris. Most celebrated of all these artistic gems is Raphael's "The Sistine Madonna," for which an entire room has been set apart.

Among the galleries' other magnets are "Madonna," by the younger Holbein; Titian's "Tribute Money" and "Venus;" Rembrandt's "Portrait of Himself, with His Wife Sitting on His Knee," and many more, particularly of the Italian, Dutch and Flemish classical schools.

Across the way stands another wing of the museum, which contains splendid examples of the modern school of painting. Outstanding masters of the late nineteenth and present centuries, such as Picasso, Matisse and Monet, are represented here.

The museum also contains a magnificent collection of engravings, ancient and modern, sculpture and drawings.

In other words, he sacrifices you to satisfy his sensitive conscience. I suppose he calls it his honor. Admires himself."

"Don't! Don't begin syhpathizing. I can't bear it." At the break in her voice Fanny found herself swept into Bob's arms and weeping comfortably on his tweed shoulder.

"There, that's done me worlds of good," said Fanny. Gently she released herself, patted Bob's hand, managed a smile. "I haven't had anyone to talk to or anyone to feel sorry for me since you and Amelia went away — except Leona, our cook."

"I'll write Amelia," said Bob grimly, "and I think I'll also take it upon myself to tell David a thing or two—that is, if you're determined not to go with me."

Fanny shook her head.

"Don't be idiotic, Bob. You mustn't say anything to David—I'd never forgive you. He has the world on his shoulders now, poor boy. He isn't 30 yet and he's practically running that bank. It's an enormous responsibility and you know how conscientious he is, and how he worries."

"It might do him good to worry about you for a change—take you a little to heart," interrupted Bob viciously.

"Oh, but he does—he's always worrying about me. Naturally I don't run to him with constant complaints of his mother—it would drive him crazy."

"You poor kid! And of course the old girl knows that you'll keep your mouth shut and David will walk softly, instead of standing up like a man and lambasting the life out of the old dragoon."

"Bob, I won't have you sneering at David. He's doing the best he can to meet an extremely difficult situation. It's not so easy to lambaste the life out of one's own mother—and it would only make things worse if he did."

"You're right. Who am I to sneer at David? I beg your pardon. Fan, but it makes me so damned mad—and I so powerless to help you! Did you ever try telling her to mind her own business?"

"More or less. But she always makes me pay for it."

"How, for instance?"

"Oh, by black looks, and a frosty silence and a general air of being terribly abused and put upon. Sometimes she hardly speaks to me for days and days."

Bob swore savagely under his breath.

"It's not much good", Fanny went on wearily. "I haven't the strength to fight for what I think is right or the character to make the best of my weakness. A year ago I would have been appalled if I could have seen how black my heart was. Now I haven't even the energy for a good active hatred."

She walked down the hill almost in silence. When they came to the edge of a little covert, and Fanny saw that Bob was going to kiss her, she drew back.

"Please, Bob," she pleaded. "I can't see you again unless you are going to be wise for both of us. It's been such a comfort to talk to you—you've helped me so tremendously."

"Helped you!" Bob spat the words at her, and strode ahead down the hill, barely speaking even at parting. It was almost 6 and Fanny lingered at the gate until David came and went in with him.

Mrs. Frost was in the library reading the evening paper.

"Mrs. Greenough was here this afternoon," she accused. "She was very much disappointed not to see you."

"It was much too fine for Fanny to stay indoors," said David impatiently. "Anyway, Mrs. Greenough came to see you, not Fanny."

"Mrs. Greenough is partial to young people. She made a special point of asking if Fanny would be here when she telephoned. Fanny assured me that she would be."

"I meant to be, but Bob asked me to go walking and—"

"Bob who?"

"Bob Daniels."

The lesser offense was immediately forgotten in the greater.

"Have you heard, David, what Bob is doing now to spite not only Leila but Leila's family?"

"Yes, Mother, and I think the less fuss made over it the better. He'll tire of it soon enough, unless we encourage him by raising a big bother. That's what he's hoping for."

"Perhaps," said Mrs. Frost majestically "but I think you will agree that the least Leila's family can do to show their loyalty in her trouble and distress is to stand back of her and ignore the man who is doing everything in his power to humiliate her and make her unhappy. If Emmeline finds out that Fanny has been walking with Bob I doubt whether she will ever enter this house again. We have been intimates for 60 years, but I cannot say that I should blame her."

"Nonsense, Mother. As long as Leila and Bob are living together and he does nothing more violently wicked than running his father's store it would be idiotic to cut him."

"Very well. But I give warning that I mean to show him the door if he comes here. Leila, poor child, is almost prostrated."

David had averted the wrath temporarily from her, but Fanny knew that she would never be able to see Bob again without paying for it. Nevertheless Fanny meant to continue seeing Bob Daniels. He was her friend, her loyal and devoted friend and he and she had need of friends just now. It was possible that she could be of service to Bob, and with his help she might win back a measure of her lost courage, build up again her necessary sense of proportion.
